THAILAND'S EAST COAST

DISCOVER RAYONG & BEYOND
THAILAND'S EAST COAST

Message from the Governor Tourism Authority of Thailand

The East Coast of Thailand has long been known as a tourist mecca remarkable for its seaside resorts and myriad attractions and good tourist facilities. In recent years an increasing number of local and overseas visitors have begun to discover Rayong and its yonder neighbours – Chanthaburi and Trat.

Rayong itself is fast becoming popular with tourists, with its relatively clean environment, fresh climate, and natural beauty. Several resorts along the coastline afford first – class facilities and services amidst splendid nature. These incomparable services are made possible by the concerted effort of a strong network of TAT Rayong office and local tourist clubs.

Together with the gem industry and fruit produce of Chanthaburi and Trat, it looks set that Rayong and beyond will emerge as everyone's latest destinations that promise a most relaxing holiday in the East Coast for all types of visitors.

It is therefore very timely that Discover Rayong & Beyond is published to give ready and up – to – date information on the profile, tourist attractions, and facilities of the eastern provinces that can be used by visitors and business operators in making travel plans and arrangements.

I commend the effort of Rayong Hotel Club in this endeavour to publicize the tourism highlights of Rayong, Chanthaburi and Trat for all the world to come and see. I am all for the attitude that says the way to beat a slowdown is to fight it head – on by getting yourselves fully prepared and becoming even more aggressive and efficient in meeting the demand of customers.

DHARMNOON PRACHUABMOH

Message from the Director Tourism Authority of Thailand, Rayong Office

When one thinks of the East Coast of Thailand, one sees palm-lined beaches, world-class resorts, delicious seafood, tasty tropical fruits and exquisite gemstones.

The East Coast nowadays is more than just Pattaya, Asia's premier beach resort, but a place where almost everything can be found.

In recent years the East Coast's provinces of Rayong, Chanthaburi and Trat have become the popular destinations with tourists, both local and overseas, because of their interesting attractions, beautiful nature, good facilities and clean environment.

The Discover Rayong & Beyond is published to help promote Rayong, Chanthaburi and Trat as the new destinations. The books are aimed to distribute to tour operators and media people at overseas to know more about this region.

I thank the members of Rayong Hotel Club and other supporters for helping produce this illustrative and informative guide. I hope this publication will be useful to you and I look forward to welcoming your clients and you to these new destinations soon.

GULF OF THAILAN

RAYONG

GOLDEN TOWN OF THE EAST COAST

RAYONG is located in the east coast of Thailand on the northern shoreline of the Gulf of Thailand, some 179 kilometres from Bangkok.

Rayong has an extensive coastline stretching for approximately 100 kilometres, is some 3,552 square kilometres in area, and is divided into 6 administrative districts. To the north and west it is bordered by the Province of Chonburi, east by Chanthaburi Province and south by the Gulf of Thailand. The total population of the province is about 447,000 persons.

In general the geography of Rayong is marked by a series of mountains interspersed by flat plains and large tracts of land under forest, rubber and fruit plantation. Offshore there are many islands which are well-known by the tourist, such as Ko Samet and Ko Mun.

Rayong was mentioned in the Thai history during the late Ayuttaya period, when the former capital was razed to the ground by the invading Burmese. At this time Phaya Tak, later to become King Taksin of Thonburi, led a band of patriots and broke out through the cordon of besieging troops who had surrounded the capital. He then made his way towards the east stopping in Rayong to build up his navy before proceeding on to Chantaburi. Because of his courage and bravery, the soldiers and local population anointed him as "King" in Rayong. Once he had built up sufficient troop strength, Phaya Taksin returned to Ayuttaya and routed the Burmese and set up a new capital in Thonburi.

Rayong is blessed with its abundance of nature beauty. It has a well deserved reputation for producing seafood products such as shrimp paste, fish sauce and dried seafoods, and tropical fruits of which Rambutan, Mangosteen and Durian are the most famous.

The climate is tropical, generally warm and humid with abundant rainfall, average temperature is around 28°C. The best months are November through February.

ATTRACTIONS & PLACES OF INTEREST

CITY ATTRACTIONS

The King Taksin Shrine

The shrine is located at Wat Lum Mahachai Chumpon which commemorates King Taksin the Great's brief sojourn in Rayong. In front of the shrine is a large tree of the genus Parkia, where according to local legend, his elephant was believed to be stabled. It is highly revered by the people, particularly those of Chinese ancestry, and attracts large crowds during Chinese New Year celebrations.

Wat Pa Pradu

This temple was constructed during the Ayuttaya period. Enshrined in the temple is a large reclining Buddha, measuring 11.95 metres long by 3.60 metres high. This differs from other similar images in that it reclines on its left side.

City Pillar Shrine

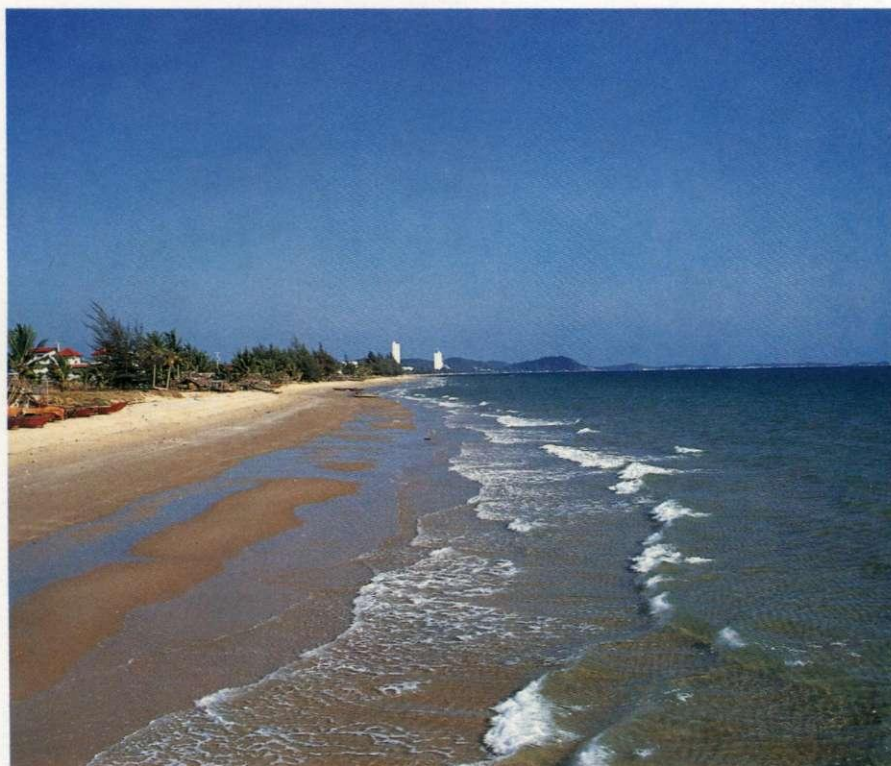

Located in Lak Muang Road. Originally it was made from wood, but was later restored, using mortar, as a Chinese - style pavilion.

Phra Chedi Klang Nam

The Chedi (Pagoda) is located about 2 kilometres from town centre and is sited on an islet at the mouth of the Rayong River. The Chedi, stands about 10 metres high, and is an ancient structure, though there is no evidence of when it was built and by whom. An annual celebration is held during the twelfth lunar month (November) featuring exciting boat races.

Sri Muang Park

The park is located in the centre of town behind the city hall. The most prominent feature is a Buddhist Shrine called Ho Phra Phut Tha Ang Khee Rot which is built over an artificial lake, and in Traditional Thai architectural style.

OUT-OF CITY ATTRACTIONS

Sai Thong Beach

This peaceful secluded setting has, as the name implies, a fine sandy beach. Along the beachfront there are bungalows for rent as well as a restaurant serving fresh seafood. To reach Hat Sai Thong drive about 12 kilometres along highway 3 in the direction of Sattahip and turn off between kilometre posts 207 – 208 opposite the Maptaphut Market. Approximately 5.5 kms along this road is the beach.

Ko Saket

A small island about 10 minutes journey from Sai Thong Beach. The water around the island is clear and allow a fascinating view of the underwater coral formations. There are bungalows for rent on the island.

Payoon and Pala Beach

Located in Ban Chang District

about 33 and 36 kilometres respectively from Rayong Town. Both beaches are connected, peaceful and eminently suitable for swimming. Here visitors have choice of accommodation from luxury hotel to economy bungalows.

Dok Krai Reservoir

Located in Pluak Daeng District, 35 kilometres from Rayong Town. This is the centre of development projects under the advice of H.M. King Bhumibol Adulyadej on agriculture, fishery, irrigation, land and farm animals. The reservoir covers 20,000 rais of land, is surrounded by the natural beauty ideal for relaxing, camping and educational tour.

Mae Ramphung Beach

The beach, some 10 kilometres long is located between Ban Tapong and Ban Kon Aow, 11 kilometres from town, and sited within the Khao Laem Yah – Ko Samet Group National Park. This is a particularly beautiful spot with a headland forming a magnificent backdrop to a crescent shaped bay with broad sandy beaches which are ideal for swimming.

Ban Kon Aow

This is a typical fishing village, some 22 kilometres from town, which is dominated by a temple with seats a top a hill overlooking the shoreline. The area is subject to wind and sea erosion. The palm trees appear to be standing on sand pedestals, which appear to be held together only by the roots of the trees.

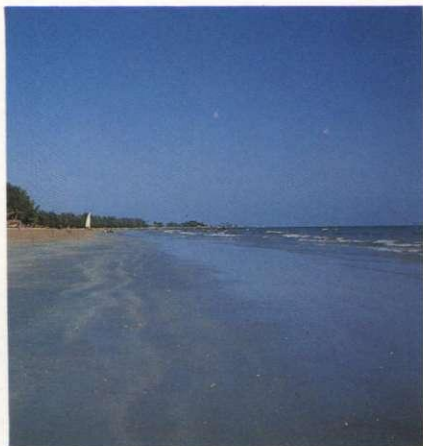

The Sobha Botanical Gardens

These possess one of the greatest varieties of trees and plants in Thailand. Located on the Phe road, Muang district. Rayong, 17 kilometres from town, the Gardens are only 3 kilometres from the ferry to Samet island. In the Gardens, one sees also a Thai Sala and a group of three classical Thai houses, each of which is more than a hundred years old. The houses are completely furnished and have utensils traditionally used by the Thai people. There are also a number of antique objects and other objects d'art on display in the houses.

Khao Laem Yah – Ko Samet Group National Park

In 1981 the area known as Khao Laem Yah and the island of Koh samet was designated as a nature reserve. It is an area of great natural beauty which is enhanced by the tranquility of the surroundings.

Khao Laem Yah is located about 6.4 kms from the fishing village of Ban Phe. Koh Samet, on which Sunthorn Phu, Thailand's greatest poet based his most famous work, the story of Pra Apaimanee, lies about 40 minutes boat journey offshore. The park also covers Mae Ramphung Beach, Ban Kon Aow and some islands near Ko Samet such as Ko Kudee, Ko Krui, Ko Khangkhao and Ko Platin.

Ban Phe

Ban Phe, 22 kilometres from town, is a busy fishing port and the centre of local marine produce. The town of Ban Phe is characterised by narrow streets of shops and houses, it is a stopping off points for tourists en route to the island of Ko Samet. Boats leave regularly for the island from the piers. Shop in the main street stock a wide variety of marine produce and many souvenirs and trinkets fashioned from shells of different shades and sizes.

Ko Kudee

It lies approximately 6 kilometres offshore. Besides Ko Kudee there are two smaller islands, one is Ko Khangkhao and another is Ko Rusee Cave. All three islands lie a little to the east of Ko Samet. The islands have beautiful natural landscapes and ringed by fine beaches which are ideal for swimming and camping on.

Suan Son Park

It is 1 kilometre from Ban Phe and also known as the Casuarina (pine) gardens. These splendid trees line both verges of the road for a distance of 1 kilometre. It is a popular picnic place with shady areas.

Wang Kaew

This is agreeably one of the most picturesque part of the east coast and used to be the most famous tourist spot. Wang Kaew is a beautifully landscaped headland with a fine beach and accommodation available in cottages and bungalows. It is 38 kilometres from town.

Laem Mae Phim

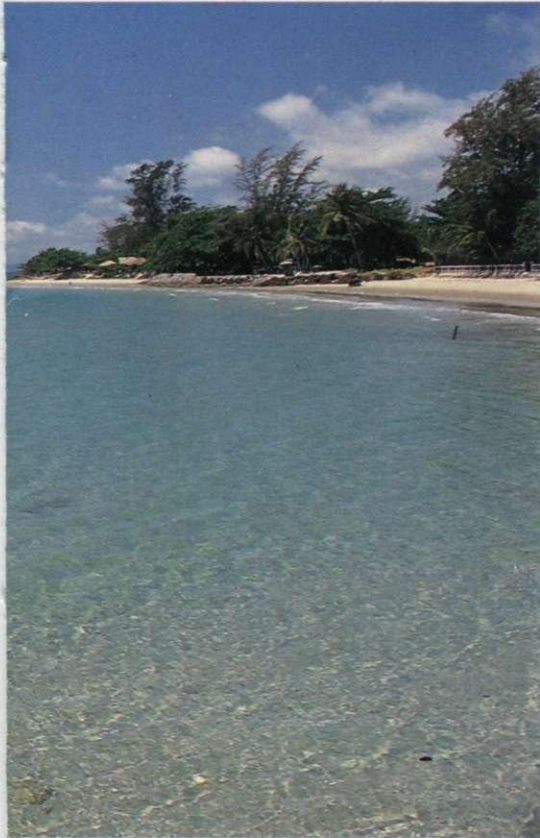

At km 26 on the coastal road between Ban Phe and Klaeng, 48 kilometres from town, is Laem Mae Phim. This is a popular beach attracts Thai tourists. There are many bungalows for rent at the site and along the roadside there are vendors selling a wide range of produce. Such as fruits, coconuts, fried squid and skewered oysters. Boats can be hired to visit the nearby Ko Mun island group.

Mun Islands

Lying off the coast near Kram is the Ko Mun island group which consists of three islands, namely Ko Man Nai, Ko Mun Klang and Ko Mun Nok which mean inner, middle and outer Mun islands. These islands are located about 5 kilometres off Laem Mae Phim and take about 50 minutes to reach by boat.

Ko Samet or Ko Kaew Phisadan

It is the most well-known attraction of Rayong offers beautiful beaches with charming white sand, strange-shaped rocks, suitable relaxation, water sporting, exploring the coral reefs beneath the sea. Ko Samet is located some 6.5 kilometres from Ban Phe. There are boat services available all day and many kinds of accommodation there.

The cost is about 500 baht per round trip. The islands are worth while exploring, each one having fine sandy beaches which offer secluded spots for sunbathing or swimming. Accommodations are available on Ko Mun Klang and Ko Mun Nok.

The Statue of Sunthorn Phu

Being further down the beautiful road going towards Klaeng district, 53 kilometres from town, the great poet of the Ratanakosin Era has been designated by UNESCO as an eminent classical poet. The statue is located in the village of Ban Krum, the birthplace of Sunthorn Phu's father. There is a well - kept memorial park at the house site. A statue of the poet in a seated position is placed on a hillock overlooking an ornamental pond. Characters from his most famous work can be seen below him. His beloved hero, Phra Aphaimanee, is playing a flute at the foot of the hill. The graceful mermaid rests on a rock in the pond as a giant ogress rises out of the water.

Wat Saranat Thammaram

This temple is located at the market in Klaeng Town and was constructed in 1945. This very imposing structure boasts one of the most beautiful Ubosots in the East. Replicas of many well - known Buddhist chedis are erected around the compound.

Somdet Krommaluang Chumphon Shrine

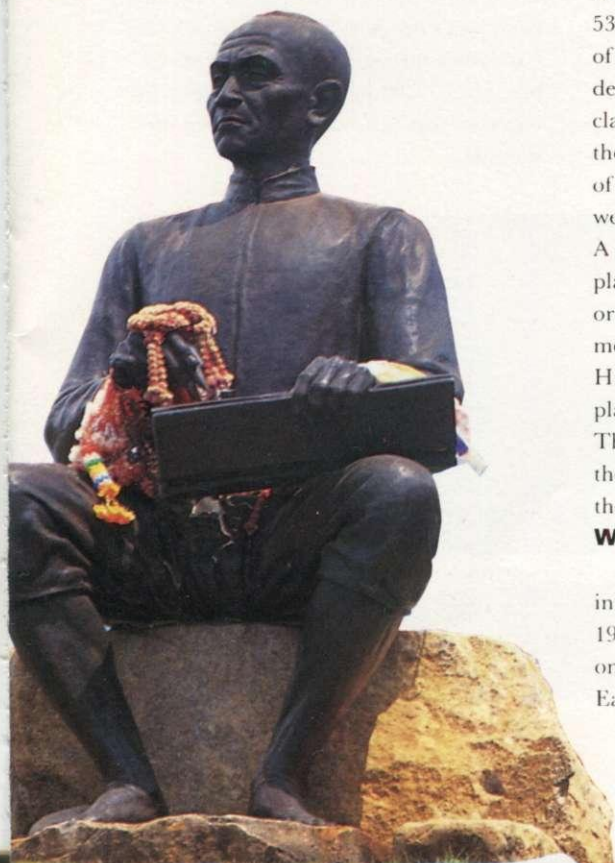

Near the mouth of the river Prasair in the district of Klaeng is the Somdet Krommaluang Chumphon shrine, which honours the "Father of the Royal Thai Navy". To reach the site turn off the Sukhumvit Road at KM 278 and travel a distance of 9 kms.

The Khao Chamao - Khao Wong National Park

It is about 17 kilometres off the main highway at km. 274, 76 kilometres from Rayong and abounds with various types of trees and plants, as well as species highly valued as decorative plants. The Khao Chamao waterfall has eight levels. It is not too difficult to reach the top.

Khao Wong Caves

To reach Khao Wong take the turning at km 288 on the Sukhumvit Road and travel a distance of 12 kms to find the caves. At Khao Wong there are about 60 caves around the base of the mountain. Many of the caves are occupied by Buddhist monks, and one has been turned into a shrine with a replica of the Buddha's footprint.

ATTRACTIONS & PLACES OF INTEREST

Namtok Phliu National Park:

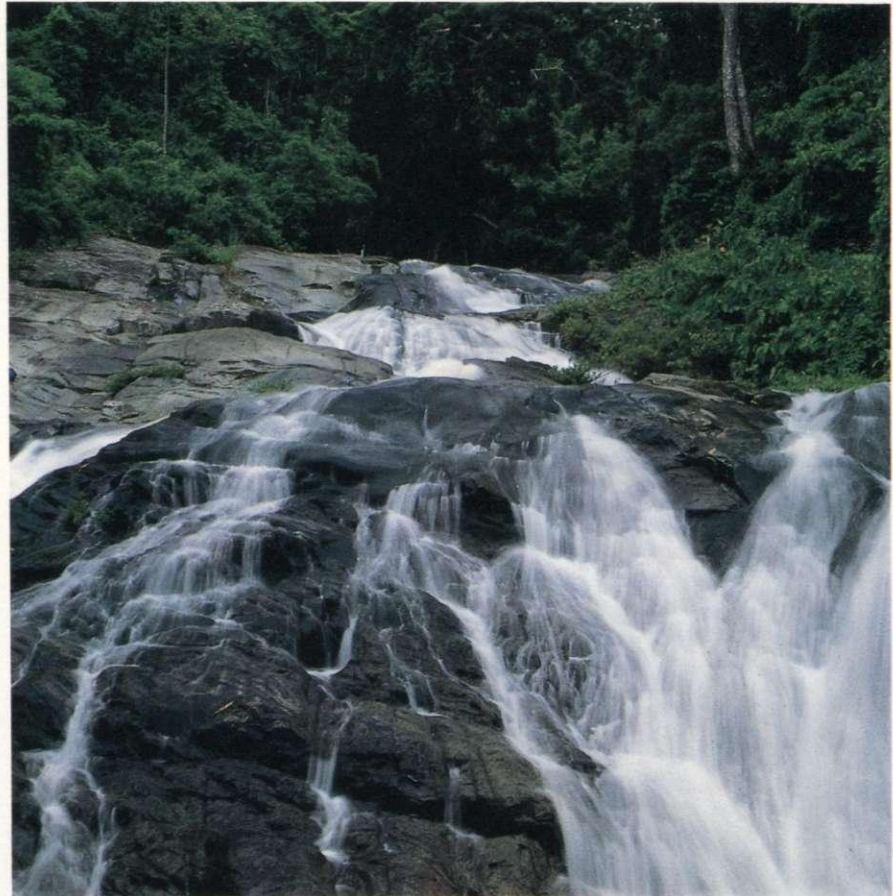

The 42,000 – acre park was established in 1975, with numerous species of wild plants and fruits in perfusion.

Phlui Waterfall itself boast a stupa which was built by King Rama V in 1876, as well as a pyramid – type structure housing the remains of Queen Sunantha who 2 year earlier had visited the waterfall.

Laem Sing Cape: 31 kilometres from Chanthaburi town on Sukhumvit Highway, take a right turn at Km. 347 is a likeness of a lion on all four facing the sea. On the Laem Sing hill are the remain of one of the two forts built during King Rama III's reign. The Laem Sing beach itself is not very appealing at present as it serves as the leading pier for fishing boats.

Khuk Khi Kai: Built by the French in the year 112 of the Rattanakosin Era, located just one kilometre before the present – day pier, was used by the builders as a retention center for Thai Nationals. A rectangular – shaped struture built with red bricks with two rows of ventilation slits and perforated roof, it is said that the roof was used as chicken coop from which fowl waste was dropped onto the prisoners.

Tuk Daeng: or the Red House, was built at the same time as the Khuk Khi Kai (1893). Originally it was the headquarters of the Phikat Patchamit Fort but French adapted it into living quarters for officers.

Oasis Sea World: located at Tambon Pak Nam, Amphoe Laem Sing, 25 kilometres from the provincial city, on sukhumvit Highway (the Highway 3) with a 15 kilometres right turn towards Laem Sing at kilometre 347. Oasis Sea World covers a total area of more that 68 rai. It is a breeding and conserving station for dolphins from the waters of Chanthaburi. There are 2 breeds of them, namely Humpbacked dolphin and Irrawaddi dolphin. Dolphin shows are performed daily all through the day during 8.00 a.m. – 5.00 p.m. Admission fee is 60 baht for adults and 30 baht for children. For further information please contact Tel. (039) 312567

CHANTHABURI

Si Chan Road: Also known as gem road, an economic route of the province. Cut gems are put on sales here. On Fridays, Saturdays, and Sunday, gem trading in Trok Krachang or Krachang Lane lends a very informal atmosphere.

Wat Khao Sukim: Located at Km. 305 on Sukhumvit Highway, then turn left about 13 kilometres, is a religious center for meditation in a tranquil and tree shaded atmosphere.

King Tak Sin the Great's Monument: Located in public park on Tha Luang Road in Amphoe Muang, opposite to the old governor office. Built in 1893 the building houses a bronze statue of the King.

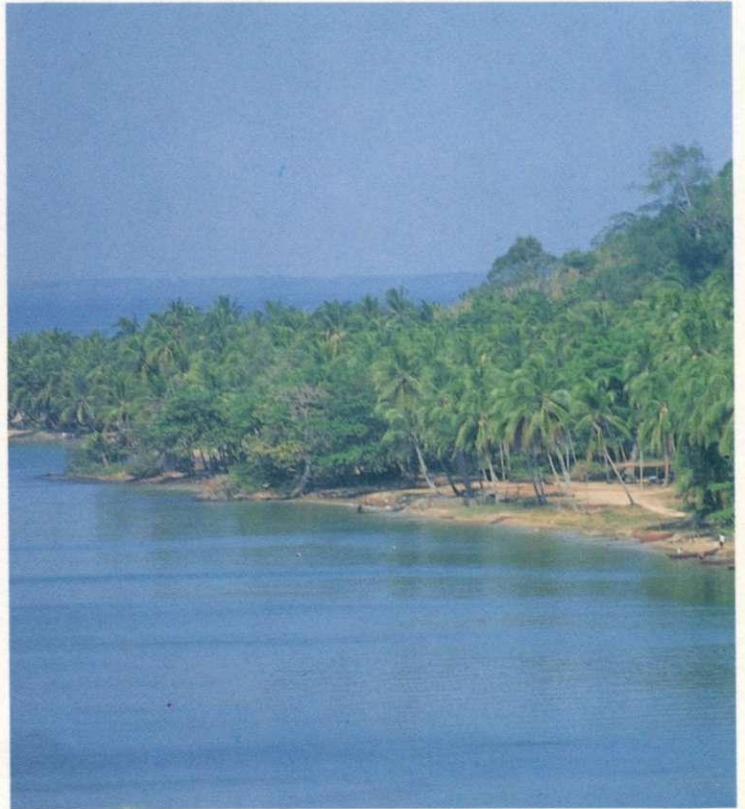

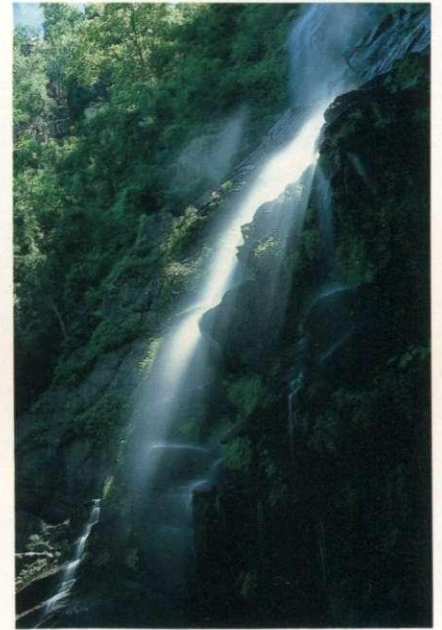

Krathing Waterfall: One of the very beautiful waterfall in Khao Khitchakut National Park in Tambon Phluang of Amphoe Makhm. It is 30 Km. from Chanthaburi. To get there, taking Sukhumvit Road at Km. 324 then turn left about 21 kms. Located on top of Khao Khitchakut are imprint of Lord Buddha's foot, and a very beautiful cave called "Tham Ruesi" (Hermit's Cave). In this cave there is a water - well called "Bo Ya" (medicine well). The soil in the well has yellow colour. It is believed that the water can be used to cure some disease. To get the the cave takes about 2 hours along a hiking trail.

Laem Sadet, Khung Wiman and Chao Lao Beach: Located in Tambon Khlong Kut of Amphoe Tha Mai. To get there, take Sukhumvit Highway at Km. 301, then turn right about 27 kms. Visitors can enjoy the natural beauty of beach, cape, mountain and bay.

Noen Wong Fort

This is actually a city wall built in the reign of His Majesty King Rama III to defend against attacks by Vietnamese forces at that time. The wall is still very much intact and a main attraction is the old cannon fortresses that line the wall.

MAJOR EVENTS

Chanthaburi Fruit Fair

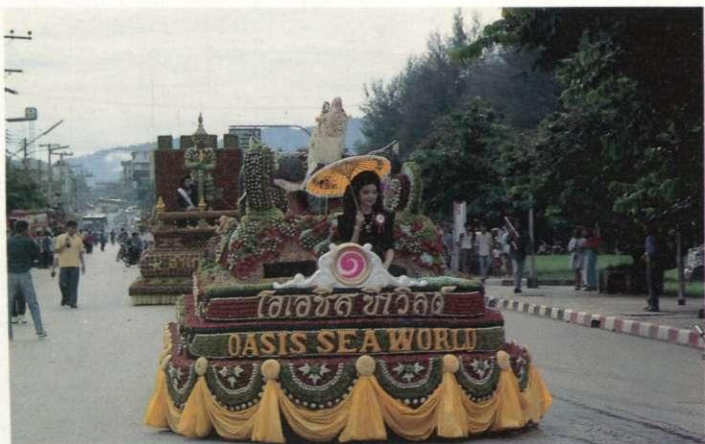

This annual fair is held in the provincial capital, usually during the middle of May, to celebrate the abundance of such local fruits as rambutan, durian, jackfruit, and pomelo, then at their peak of succulent ripeness. Besides stalls selling the produce of surrounding orchards, there are cultural shows and exhibitions of provincial handicrafts.

SHOPPING

Gemstones: Chanthaburi is famous and rich in mineral resources and is a major producer of gemstones of worldwide appeal. It is particularly noted for the so-called Tab Tim Siam or Red Sapphire or Ruby.

Reed Mats: One of the most well-known local handicrafts of Chanthaburi are reed mats. Recent reed materials have been adapted for making other utensils and ornaments such as handbag, paper holder and coaster, etc.

Fruits: The main occupation of the people are fruit growing. The province is famous for such tropical and exotic fruits as Durian, Rambutan, Mangosteen and Langsat. It is not surprising that visitors flock to Chanthaburi during seasons of different fruits.

TRAT

Trat is Thailand's easternmost province, about 315 kilometres from Bangkok and 179 kilometres from Rayong. Hemmed in by mountains, the Khao Bantat range serves as the natural boundary with Kampuchea. Dating back from the Ayuttaya Period. Trat was a busy seaport and in the mid - Rattanakosin (Bangkok) Period its strategic site had played an important role concerning the independence of the Kingdom.

Trat with its fertile soil and tropical climate provides the highly agricultural base for rubber plantation and an abundance of tropical fruits growing such as Durian, Rambutan, Mangosteen and Rakam or Sweet Zalacca, etc. Rich in gems, Trat produces the world famous "Tab Tim Siam" or Ruby. Trat boasts abundant of lovely beaches and 52 islands with delightful natural sceneries. It is the new destination of those who seek a get - away - from - it - all holiday.

How to get to Trat

Both air and non air - conditioned buses leave from the Eastern Bus Terminal (Ekamai).

ATTRACTIONS & PLACES OF INTEREST

Laem Ngop

Situated some 17 kilometres from town on Highway No. 3148. From the pier located at the road's end or the town, there are regular boats services for Ko Chang and other nearby islands. Local products of preserved seafood and native wide-brim hats can also be bought there.

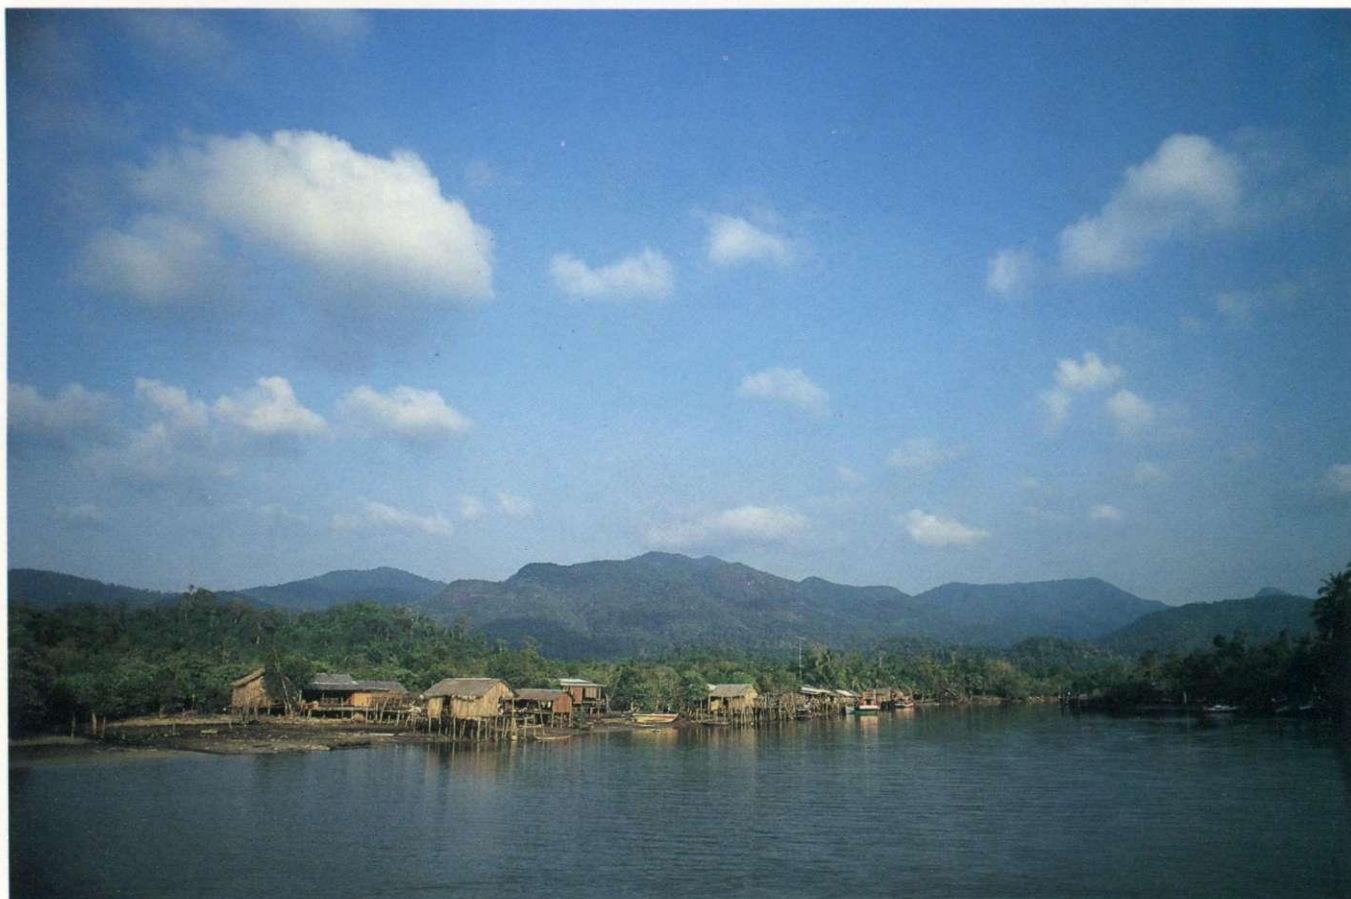

Ko Chang Group National Marine Park

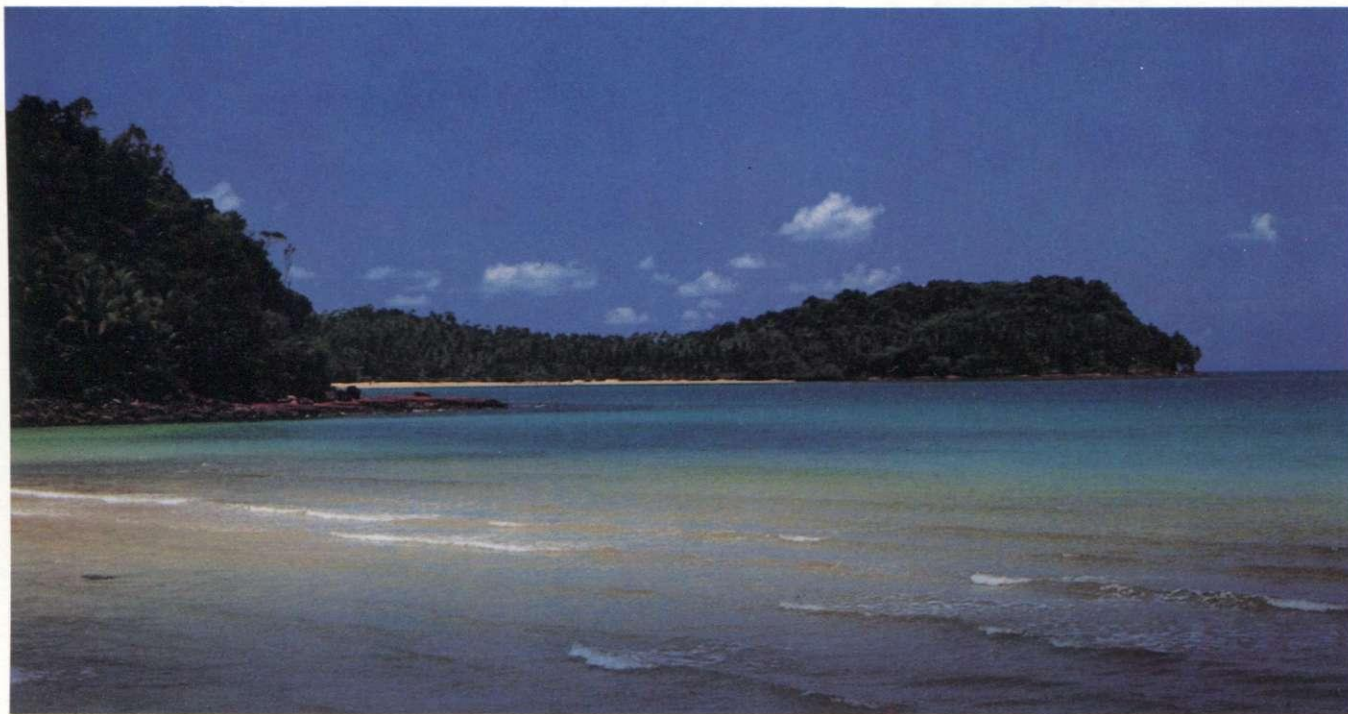

Consisting of 40 isles, Ko Chang is the most important and biggest island, second only to Phuket. It is a peaceful and tranquil seaside destination with unspoilt natural wealth waiting to be discovered. Most magnificent beaches of Ko Chang are on the island's western coast such as Klong Son Beach, Sai Khao Beach, Kong Prao Beach and Bang Bao Beach. There are two beautiful waterfalls called Than Mayom Waterfall and Khlong Phlu Waterfall which worth visiting. Than Mayom Waterfall was visited by King Rama V in 1876.

There are many other interesting islands in Ko Chang Group National Marine Park, such as Ko Phrao, Ko Lao Ya, Ko Wai, Ko Mai Si, Ko Ngam, Ko Khum, all have white

Sandy beaches. Ko Rang group where concessions for gathering swallow nests and turtle eggs, attractions include underwater rock formations, coral and fishes. There are accommodation on Ko Phrao, Ko Lao Ya, Ko Ngam and Ko Wai.

Ko Maak

Located between Ko Chang and Ko Kud. It is an island with a village. Most people on this island earn their living on coconut plantation.

Ko Kra Dad

Located on the east of Ko Maak. It is blessed with delightful and beautiful sceneries.

Ban Chuen Beach

About 64 kilometres from town. This beach is an extremely popular beach resort among local people, and famous for its exquisite powdery white sandy beach.

Ban Hat Lek

A small village located at the end of Highway No. 318, 90 kilometres from Trat Town. This village is an off point for taking boat to visit Ko Kong, a border province of Kampuchea.

Ko Kud

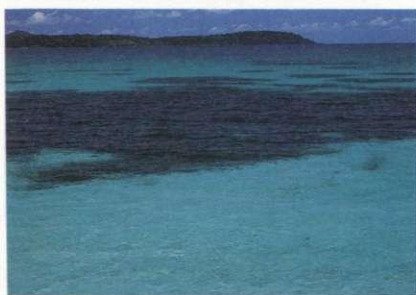

It is the second biggest island of Trat Province and the fourth biggest island in Thailand, located in the south of Ko Chang. Ko Kud has many lovely beaches and a famous waterfall called Than Sanuk Waterfall where King Rama VI visited in 1911.

Wat Buppharam

Located 2 kilometres from town. This temple, dating back from the late Ayuttaya Period, is noted for its relics of the Lord Buddha, Buddha statues in various postures as well as Praying Hall, Wooden Vihara, Bell Tower and small typical Kuthi or monk's quarters.

Gems Market

The district of Bo Rai and Khao Sa-ming have been developed as the region's major gem-mining industry. Especially Bo Rai is noted for being the site of the world famous "Tab Tim Siam" or "Siam Ruby". The gem market or Bo Rai at Hua Tung Market takes place in the morning from 7.00 - 10.00 a.m., and at Klong Yo and Nong Bon intersection open in the afternoon from 1.00 - 3.00 p.m.
